

PROGRAM 2019
Thursdays, at 4 pm

24 January Ee-822	Is there an optimal diet for weight management and metabolic health? Mike Lean School of Medicine, Dentistry & Nursing, Glasgow, U.K.
21 February Ee-822	'Guts and Graves' disease (a role for the microbiota in thyroid autoimmunity?) Marian Ludgate Thyroid Research Group, Division of Infection & Immunity, Cardiff University School of Medicine, Cardiff, U.K.
14 March Ee-822	Immunotherapy with Islet peptides for human new-onset type 1 diabetes Mark Peakman Peter Gorer Department of Immunobiology, King's College London Faculty of Life Sciences & Medicine, London, U.K.
11 April Ee-822	Overview of aldosterone-related genetic syndromes and recent advances Maria-Christina Zennaro Paris Cardiovascular Research Center – PARCC, Paris, France.
16 May Ee-822	The Pink Adipocytes Saverio Cinti United Hospitals of Ancona, Obesity Center University of Ancona, School of Medicine, Ancona, Italy
20 June Ee-822	Internalization of G protein-coupled receptors and its implications in health and disease Davide Calebiro University of Birmingham, Birmingham, U.K.
12 September Ee-822	The versatile tanycyte: a hypothalamic integrator of reproduction and energy metabolism Vincent Prevot University of Lille, Lille, France
3 October Sophia Bioscoop	How about going with Oxytocin- The Sweet Hormone Gareth Leng The University of Edinburgh, Edinburgh, U.K.
14 November Ee-822	The elusive genetics of Small-Intestinal neuroendocrine tumors Peter Stalberg Dept. of Surgery, Endocrine Surgical Unit, University Hospital, Uppsala, Sweden
12 December Ee-822	The emerging importance of ultradian glucocorticoid rhythms Stafford Lightman University of Bristol, Centre for Synaptic Plasticity, Bristol, U.K.

Info: Joop Janssen (j.a.m.j.l.janssen@erasmusmc.nl); Marjolein van Driel (m.vandriel@erasmusmc.nl);