

NAFLD/NASH is a multisystem disease that quite often remains undiagnosed. With the AwareNASH project we aim to build more understanding of this disease among clinicians by developing an educational curriculum with e-learning modules, webinars and a library of patient cases. The curriculum will be available as of Q2/Q3 2022.

The scientific advisory board chaired by Dr. Maarten Tushuizen (LUMC) is developing an educational curriculum that fits the clinicians needs. We have created an online survey to better understand their knowledge gaps. We would very much appreciate your help in filling in this survey, which will take approximately 5 minutes of your time.

More information on the project, the scientific advisory board and the survey can be found on the AwareNASH website <https://awarenash.eu/>

Direct access to the survey is also available via this link: <https://awarenash.questionpro.com>

Many thanks in advance for your help.

On behalf of the project team,

Tatiana Klompenhouwer

Project Director

AwareNASH – a multisystem disease

Email: tklompenhouwer@mededgs.com

Mobile +31 (0) 6 14 63 51 83